Agreement Sought On Street Maintenance

Antioch will ask the Illinois Highway Department for an agreement to maintain Lake St. (Rte. 59) to Rte. 173, and to widen the street.

"We're not getting anything from the state in clearing the street of snow during the winter time or patching it during the summer months," said Village Mayor Raymond Toft. "We might as well get some financial consideration for this."

The mayor Monday night said the village's benefit would not be too great in taking over the street from Rte. 173 to Rte. 63 (Main Street).

"We would not realize too much in motor fuel taxes," said the mayor after he and the street committee had met Monday with a representative of the highway department. "It would not be much of an advantage to the village to take it over."

The mayor said, "We might as well collect something for taking care of the street" in urging the trustees to authorize the application for the maintenance agreement.

The mayor said the village is not receiving anything from the state for snow removal or any patching.

At the suggestion of Village Atorney Edward Jacobs, the trustees decided to ask that the street be widened though this may not be done for a couple of years.

Mayor Toft said the highway official said the department has already mapped its improvement program for the next two years.

The village trustees had talked about the taking over Lake Street in an attempt to regulate its traffic flow since it had been the location of new businesses such as the Ben Franklin Store.

The First National Bank of Antioch also will build on the same street. A permit was granted the

2 From Antioch Arrested In Knollwood Raid

Two Antioch youths were among 56 arrested Tuesday, April 13, in a raid by Lake County Sheriff's deputies and six other departments in a Knollwood home.

Charged with disorderly conduct are John Larson, 24, 675 N. Main St., and Don Wagner, 24, of RFD 3, Box 90.

Both will appear in Lake County Circuit Court April 28.

Sabonjian To MC Antioch GOP Dinner

Waukegan's popular Mayor Robert Sabonjian will be the master of ceremonies at the Antioch Township Republican Club Spring Dinner Party and Installation of Officers Saturday, May 8, at Lorenz's Smart Country House on Rte. 173, just west of Antioch.

Antioch has a special fondness for this great man, and a big turnout is expected to greet him, including a contingent from Chicago.

Elroy Anderson will be installed for his first term as president of the ATRC.

Other officers include Raymond Schreiber, first vice president; Harry H. Stern, second vice president; Jack Gish, secretary; Elmer Eberman, treasurer; and Len Case, sergeant-at-arms. Stern is the retiring president.

Cong. Robert McClory will be the speaker. He will be accompanied by Mrs. McClory. A special award of merit will be presented to Sheriff Orville "Pat" Clavey and the Lake County Sheriff's Department by the people of Channel Lake, in appreciation for the excellent service rendered to the community.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chase will make the presentation. The cocktail hour begins at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30.

Woods Heads Girl Scout Fund Campaign

LaVerne Woods, president of the First National Bank of Antioch, will be the chairman of a fund raising drive for the Lakeview Girl Scout Council. This fund raising drive for the Lakeview Antioch an opportunity to participate in the support of the Girl Scout program, as does the remainder of the county through gifts to the United Community Services of Lake County.

Antioch does not participate in the United Fund, explained Woods, and therefore this program will enable the community to do its share in the support of the Girl Scout Council.

The drive will be held during the early part of May. Assisting Mr. Woods in the campaign are four division chairmen, Joan Toft—industry division, Pres Reckers—business division, Jim Lumber—clubs and organizations division, and Al Swan—individual solicitation chairman. Others on the local committee include Birgit Gibson, chairman for the West Association, a geographic division of the Lakeview Council.

Girl Scouting in Antioch serves 240 girls under the guidance of thirty-three adult volunteer leaders and thirty-four adults who serve on the Council Board, as troop committee members, and resource personnel for troop leaders.

The Lakeview Council provides professional assistance for the Scout program through the work of Suzy Demme, Council Field Director assigned to this area.

Camping facilities provided by the Council for use by Antioch area girls include a winterized campsite on Golden Road near Millburn and a new campsite in financial institution Monday night by the trustees.

Mayor Toft suggested that letters be mailed to the township and state about sharing in the cost of installing a traffic light at Rte. 83 and North Avenue.

The estimate cost of the traffic standard is $15,000 which Mayor Toft thought was "too much for the village to bear alone."

A flashing signal at the intersection was ruled out by state officials, it was said.

Estimate $15,000 Fire Loss

A sheriff's deputy escaped serious injury early Tuesday as he swerved to avoid another car as he sped to a fire in unincorporated Antioch Township where damage to a summer home was reported at $15,000.

Sheriff's Deputy William Dennis, 33, was only shaken as he veered his car and spun around and landed in a ditch in avoiding the vehicle that skidded onto Rte. 59 and Beach Grove Road.

The driver of the other car, Dennis J. Lento, 28, of Kenosha, was driving east in Beach Grove Road when his vehicle skidded past the stop sign.

He was charged with driving while intoxicated, failure to stop for a stop sign and failure to yield to an emergency vehicle.

Sheriff's Deputy Dennis was driving south in Rte. 59 to a fire at the summer home of Charles Blake, of Grass Lake Road, southwest of Antioch. Blake lives in Berwyn.

Deputy Fire Chief Vern Barnstable, who also is a village trustee, said the home was seriously damaged and that the volunteer firemen stayed at the fire until 5 a.m. before returning to Antioch.

A preliminary investigation indicates that faulty wiring may have touched off the early morning fire, Barnstable said.

the Kettle Moraine area of Wisconsin. The Council has also made arrangements for shared use of the camps owned by Racine and Kenosha County Councils. Each year the Council offers a Day Camp program for girls in the area.

Girl Scout program includes more than camping, however. There is opportunity for girls to develop according to their own interests, whether they be in arts and crafts, community service, homemaking skills, trips, boating, flying, first aid, and on through over a hundred interest areas and vocational exploration.

The United Community Services of Lake County provides about 35% of the Council's support. Other support comes from cookie sales, gifts, and program fees charged to help offset some of the cost of an event.

Elect Woman Trustee; 2 Incumbents Beaten

A woman was elected for the first time to the Antioch Village Board in an impressive victory in Tuesday's election in which two incumbents were casualties.

Mrs. Margaret Nelson, a beautician, led the field in vote getting, tallying 358 or 59 more than J. Irving Walsh, incumbent, who ran second in the 12-man field.

Arnold W. Weber, a sheet metal worker, unsuccessful two years ago for a trustee seat, won election by five votes over his nearest rival, Richard H. Radke, a barber.

Weber garnered 298 marks while Radke had 293.

In the race for the two year term, incumbent George W. Bartlett, an employee of Northern Illinois Gas, easily defeated Ronald Vos, a former candidate for village clerk.

The winners of the two trustee seats were not decided until the last ballot was counted so close was the tabulation. Weber emerged victorious in the 55 ballots that were accorded the four independent candidates. It was 11 p.m. Tuesday when the winners were known.

What caused the apparent defeat of the People's Party which was the ticket of the incumbents was its failure to get more Damage was estimated at $2,000 to $3,000 to the Antioch Rescue Squad which was struck head-on on Rte. 173, west of Deep Lake Road, en route to a Waukegan hospital Tuesday night. Rescue Squad Driver Don Lubkeman, 31, escaped injury as did Tom Haley who was riding in the rear compartment with a patient. A passenger in the other car was injured.

Rescue Vehicle In Crash

One person was injured Monday night in an accident involving the Antioch Rescue Squad on Rte. 173, west of Deep Lake Road.

The Antioch Rescue Squad, en route to a Waukegan hospital, was struck head-on by a vehicle driven by George Thompson, 44, of Loves Park, Ill.

Driver of the Antioch Rescue vehicle, Don Lubkeman, 31, of RFD 4, Box 299, was not hurt nor was the attendant, Tom Haley, who was riding in the rear compartment with the patient.

State Police said Lubkeman was driving east on Rte. 173 headed for Waukegan when the vehicle was struck by Thompson's west bound auto.

Thompson told State Police that he was approaching a slow moving car and that his vehicle skidded into the east bound lane in attempting to stop. He was charged with improper lane usage.

A passenger in his car, Jack Hanblow, 31, of Loves Park was hurt and was taken to Victory Memorial Hospital Waukegan, by a second Antioch Rescue Squad vehicle.

The front end of the Antioch Rescue Squad vehicle was extensively damaged. Amount of the damage was not known.

Clean-up Dates Are Established

Antioch trustees have established the week of May 3 to 10 inclusive as clean-up week.

Supt. Charles Mapleshorpe is expected to announce a schedule of the annual campaign upon his return from Springfield where he is attending a conference.

While plans were being made for the around-the-village clean-up, the trustees ordered contractors in the Oakwood Knolls subdivision to clean up their "mess of litter and debris" at completed and unfinished housing projects.

The trustees, to make certain their order, was felt by the contractors ordered a halt to new building permits since they claimed the projects where the litter and debris was noted were responsible.

"The debris, litter and rubbish must be cleaned up," Village Mayor Raymond Toft said. "The mayor said he spotted 'the mess' while he and several other trustees were visiting the neighborhood."

"I wonder if some kind of performance bond could be established for clean-up," said George Bartlett, a trustee.

"Until the debris and litter is cleaned up," said another trustee.

Cancer Patient Home Assistance Described

Improved service for cancer patients under treatment—particularly those at home—and rehabilitation programs to improve their quality of survival, were described today by Mrs. William Brook, Antioch Residential Crusade Chairman of the Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Brook was describing a key aspect of the national program, as the American Cancer Society launched its 1971 educational and fund-raising Crusade beginning April 1.

"Our goal here in Antioch is to assist patients in achieving the greatest results in both their physical and psychological rehabilitation," said Mrs. Brook. "Our Reach to Recovery program has brought courage and hope to women who have recently undergone breast surgery. It is a time when their spirits are lowest and

Reform Necessary

Strikes during 1970 accounted for more than 62 million man-days lost—the highest level in over a decade and up sharply over 1969, when 42.7 million man-days were lost.

Many of these strikes had substantial repercussions on society as a whole, especially in the areas of education, transportation, sanitation, and other essential services, and most of these strikes ended only after agreement on large wage settlements which will directly contribute to a continuance of inflation.

While we agree that third-party intervention rarely offers an amicable solution to this pressing problem, the Congress might well make a study of both management and unions at the bargaining table. But the real need is reform of our labor laws in order to regain a better balance in collective bargaining.

Fewer Filler-Outers

A study on paperwork by Ohio's "Little Hoover Commission" coupled with findings of a House Post Office and Civil Service subcommittee, reveals an incredible waste of manpower and money.

Six departments of government in Ohio were surveyed and it was found that they spent $2.6 million a year to fill out 98,077 forms for the Federal Government. The total amount spent by all state and local governments must be staggering.

The House Committee found that the U.S. spends $8 billion (out of a $200-billion plus budget) to get answers on 360,000 different forms. According to columnist Henry J. Taylor, the filing cabinets required would fill twelve Empire State Buildings.

Obviously Uncle Sam should continue to insist upon adequate reports when Federal money is distributed for spending by state and local units of government. But superfluous reports should not be required and the trend towards increasing the number of Federal handouts should be reversed.

Long Hair

Since hair styles are a fashion, it is not surprising that there are wild changes from period to period. Women's hair styles change rapidly, man's not quite so fast. But there is change. From the crewcut, almost bald fashion of a decade or two ago, the tide has turned full circle - long hair, mustaches and beards are the fashion these days, especially for the young men.

Even the Army, on the theory perhaps if you can't beat 'em, join 'em, has abolished the regulations that require recruits to be sharply sheared, and older soldiers to have only short hair and no facial adornment. Longer hair will now be permitted, modest sideburns may be grown, and mustaches, provided they are trimmed, and not the scraggly type, are in keeping with military good order and discipline.

In the Civil War period, hair was hardly an issue. The generals, who had their pictures taken often, and presumably the rank and file a swell, wore about anything they pleased. Grant's beard was of different lengths at different times; Gen. Burnside had such a magnificent set of facial hair adornments that by reverse English his name came to mean long hair in front of the ears — "sideburns."

The schools have tried in vain to enforce codes of dress and short hair. In some cases the young men have been suspended, denied diplomas and refused reentrance until their hair styles have been modified. No longer. The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that schools may no longer expel young men for wearing their hair long. While the court did not issue a formal opinion, it did uphold the opinion of the U. S. Circuit Court, that the right to wear one's hair at any length or in any desired manner is an

Featured In Color Film

The premiere showing of the film entitled "No Substitute for Victory," featuring John Wayne, will be presented Friday night, April 23, at 8 p.m. in the American Legion Hall, 501 Washington St., Waukegan.

This hard hitting fast paced documentary is introduced and hosted by film actor, John Wayne, and is narrated by Lowell Thomas, outstanding radio commentator.

The documentary interviews are given by a number of outstanding military leaders who had personal experience with the military actions and policy impediments they discuss, including General Albert C. Wedemeyer, General Mark Clark, Admiral Grant Sharp, General Paul Harkens, and others.

Also appearing in the film are Martha Raye who speaks up for the men slugging it out in the jungles and swamps of Vietnam; Ezra Taft Benson, former cabinet official under President Eisenhower, who tells how to end the war with honor; plus reports by Combat Veterans, Barry Sadler, of the Ballad of the Green Berets fame, Navy Lieutenant Norde Wilson, Veteran of 125 combat air missions, and former Green Beret Peter Stark who lost both legs in Vietnam.

The film packs more modern history into 80 minutes than most people learn in a lifetime.

The surface water committee, headed by Trustee Richard Burnett, recommended to revoke a building permit on Lakewood Drive where they noted the foundation was under water.

They were told by neighbors that the lot even in dry periods was flooded.

The committee had motioned for the revocation of the permit but upon the suggestion of Village Attorney Edward Jacobs it decided to have Building Commissioner Walter Delaney to approach the contractor on the problem.

Delaney was to spell out the alternatives to the builder that was constructing the home at his own risk and that he would have to provide for adequate water drainage as part of the occupancy permit.

Mrs. Brook said the program of the International Association of Laryngectomies, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, and its more than 100 member clubs, cooperate with physicians, speech therapists, and other specialists to help the patient develop a new voice and adjust to the new and special conditions of living.

"The American Cancer Society recognizes that the rehabilitation of the cancer patient is a vital part of his medical care," said Mrs. Brook. Not only the breast cancer and larynx cancer patients but those with amputations are provided services designed to restore the patient to his normal role in the family.

straight votes. The party polled only 106, and it needed at least 200 to pull the slate through.

There were 925 ballots cast, the largest in an off-year election. It was 230 more than was recorded four years ago when Walsh, Radke and Richard O. Burnette, who also lost Tuesday, were elected to office.

Mrs. Marilyn Sterbenz, village clerk, said there were 708 split ballots, meaning that the voters did not pick a party preference. There were 25 spoiled ballots.

"It was in the split voting that brought victory to Mrs. Nelson who was one of the hardest campaigners in the election, having visited most of the homes in the community of 3,100.

Her friends said she spent many, many hours in her successful bid for office, and attended all of the regular and special meetings of the board after she announced her candidacy.

While the votes were being counted and her victory was never in doubt from the start of the five hour tabulation, she would not accept congratulations from well wishers until Village Mayor Raymond Toft announced the unofficial results.

This is a class composition written by an 8-year-old student: "He can climb the highest mountain or swim the biggest ocean. He can fly the fastest plane and fight the strongest tiger. My father can do anything. But most of the time, he just carries out the garbage."

Mrs. Nelson ran as an "unbiased independent" who made no promises.

Mrs. Nelson continued her campaign election day by appearing at the polls at 6 a.m. Tuesday to greet voters as they went to the village hall to cast their ballots.

Her hard work at the grass roots level was reflected in the vote she received.

Radke said he would not ask for a recount when the results were announced.

"There were five solid citizens who served as judges," he said. "The people of Antioch have spoken and I accept the verdict."

He said, "It was tough to be beaten, but this was politics." And he added, "I found serving on the board interesting and enjoyable."

Bartlett, appointed to fill a board vacancy more than a year ago, was the top vote getter with 394 tallies.

The successful candidates will take their seats the first meeting in May.

The votes will be canvassed Monday, April 26.

Nixon Proposes New 'Revolt'

In proposing a reorganization of the Executive Branch of the Federal Government, President Nixon recently declared, that "most Americans have concluded that government is not performing well. It promises much, but does not deliver what it promises."

The President has called for a new American Revolution. While the "Revolution" of which he speaks is, to be sure, a peaceful one, it evinces a determination to bring about a true reformation of the Federal Government.

Basic to the President's proposed Executive Reorganization is the elimination of 7 Federal Departments, and the substitution of 4 new Departments. The main impact of this would be to group Federal activities according to broad purposes and goals in contrast to the hodgepodge of functions scattered throughout the Executive branch.

While retaining the Department of the Treasury, State, Justice and Defense, the President's proposed Executive Reorganization plan would convert the remaining 7 Departments into 4 new Departments—(1) Natural Resources, (2) Human Resources, (3) Economic Affairs, and (4) Community Development.

The proposed Department of Natural Resources would have as its goal the conservation, management, and utilization of our resources in a way that would protect the quality of the environment and achieve a true harmony between man and nature. At the present time, one agency might attempt to develop an electric power project on a certain river while other agencies might be working to keep the same area in its natural state. Only by placing these two conflicting forces under common supervision can such a dilemma be avoided. The new Department would be organized under 5 subdivisions: Land and Recreation Resources; Water Resources; Energy and Minerals Resources; Oceanic, Atmospheric and Earth Sciences; and Indian and Territorial Affairs.

The proposed Department of Community Development aims to build a wholesome and safe community environment for every American. In attempting to provide the needed assistance for both our urban and rural communities, the Federal Government has, until now, confounded local officials with at least 8 separate authorities—including 4 executive departments and 4 independent agencies. The new Department of Community Development would reduce this bureaucratic maze by operating through 3 coordinated administrations: a Housing Administration; a Community Transportation Administration; and an Urban and Rural Development Administration.

The proposed Department of Human Resources would unify major Federal efforts directed toward the development of individual potential and family well-being. At present, 3 separate departments handle food and nutrition matters. Child care programs, migrant problems, manpower programs and consumer programs suffer from similarly divided attention. It is in these areas more than in any others that the Federal structure has frustrated the very people it has sought to help. Under the new Department of Human Resources, there would be 3 major administrations: Health; Human Development; and Income Security. Thus, an intolerable and hopelessly complex system could be replaced with a Department focusing on human needs rather than on jurisdictional confusion.

The proposed Department of Economic Affairs would work to promote economic growth, foster economic justice, and encourage more efficient and more productive relationships among the

Urbana School Official To Speak Here

Dr. Lowell Fisher of the University of Illinois will speak at the annual elementary-high school boards of education and administrators dinner meeting in the Antioch High School cafeteria at 7 p.m. April 28.

Dr. Fisher's comments will be based on his experiences as a member of the Urbana Board of Education since 1951 and president of the board since 1955.

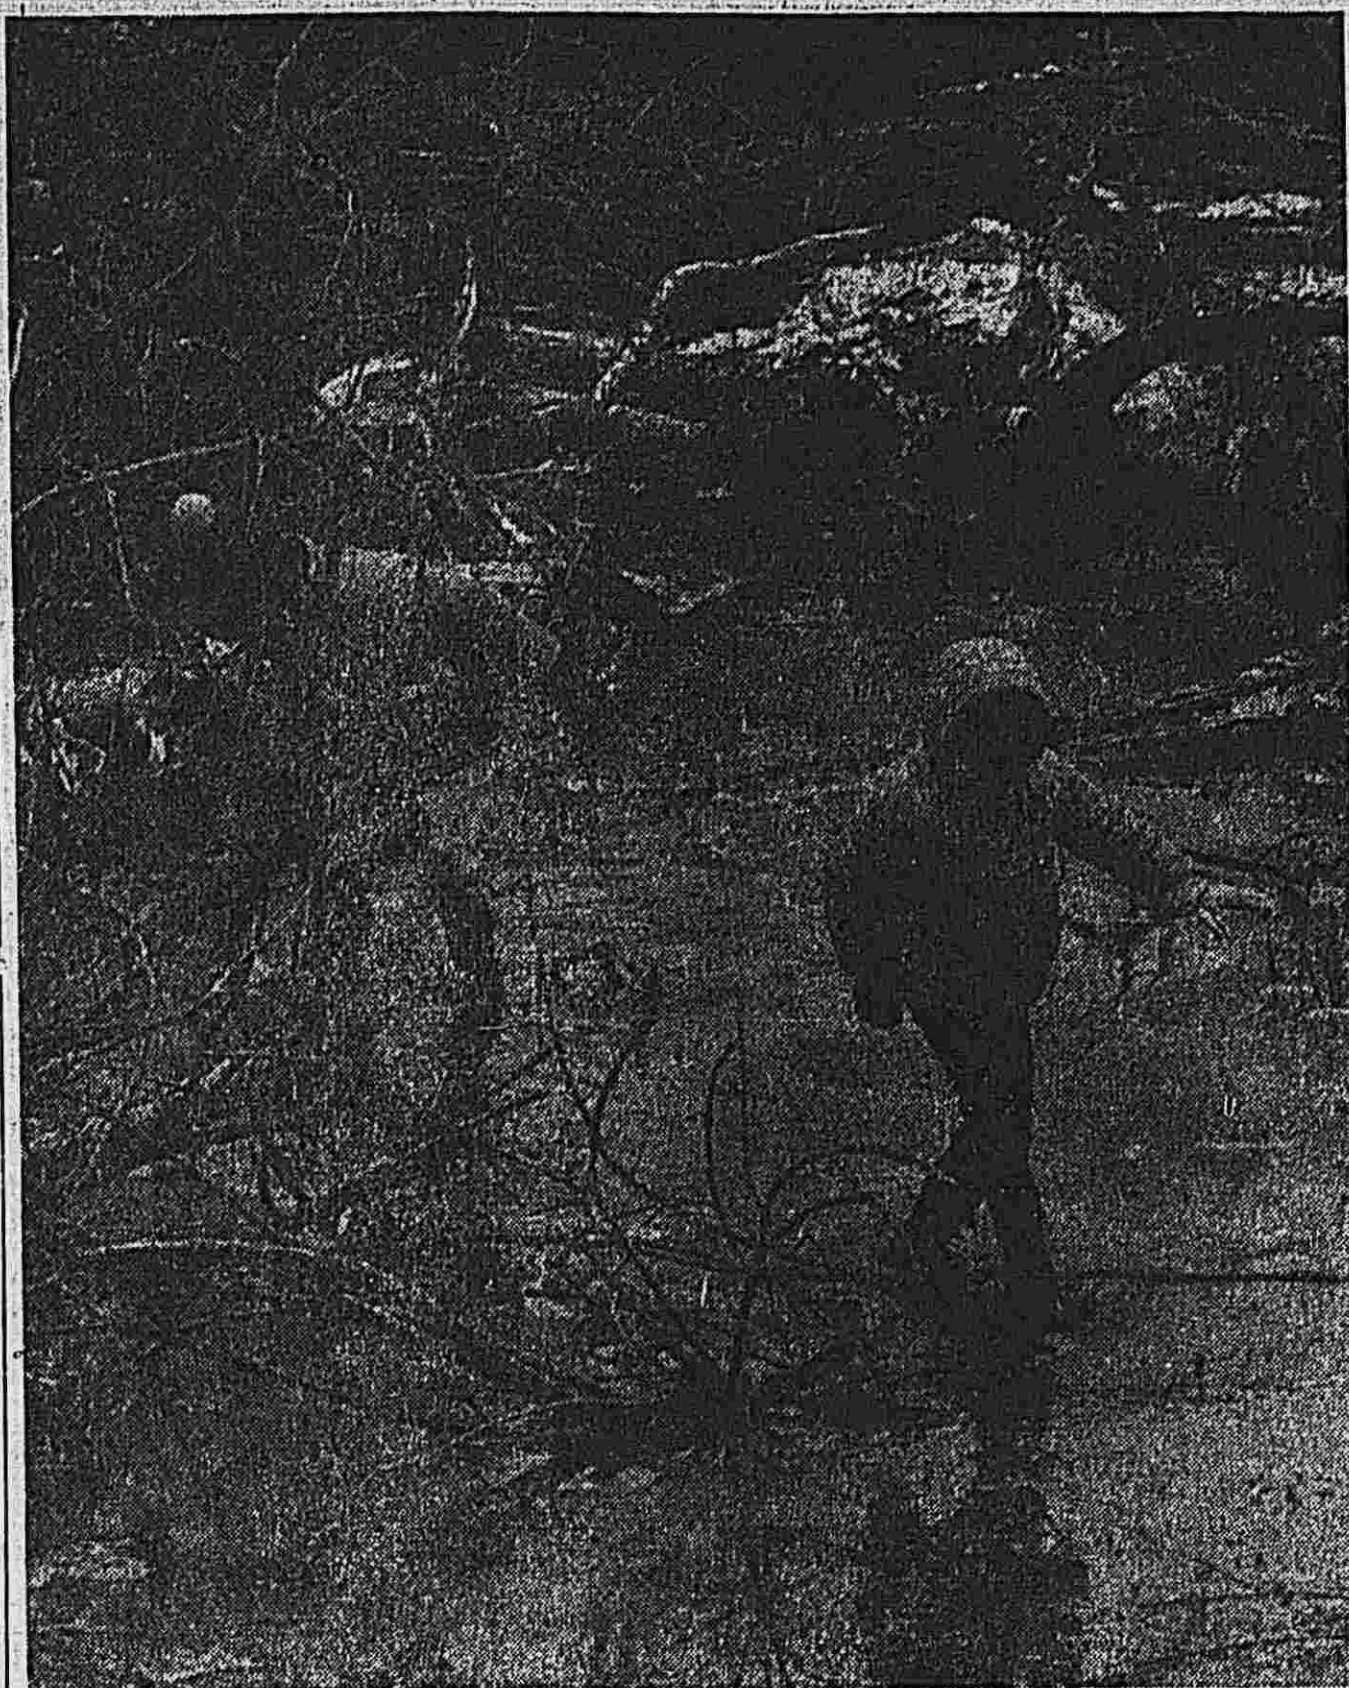

His present positions are university coordinator of school and college relations with responsibilities on all three campuses—Urbana, Chicago Circle and the Chicago Medical Center.

various elements of our economy and between the United States economy and those of other nations. Presently, 4 major executive departments handle highly inter-dependent economic matters. There appears to be little or no relationship between the production of raw materials and the final marketing of manufactured goods. Under the President's new Department of Economic Affairs, the business activities of the country would be promoted by 6 highly coordinated administrations: Business Development; Farms and Agriculture; Labor Relations and Standards; National Transportation; Social, Economic and Technical Information; and International Economics.

Two themes characterize the President's philosophy of governmental organization: (a) focus power where it can be used to the greatest benefit of the greatest number of people, and (b) give clear assignments of responsibility to able leaders—and then be sure that they are equipped to carry them out.

As we move into our third century as a free nation we must prepare for new challenges. President Nixon is moving to insure that we meet those challenges with enlightened institutions.

Cottage Cheese Gets Its Just Dessert

It's a shame about cottage cheese. It's always taken for granted as just a cool, mild salad staple or a diet food people have when they don't want to eat. Of course cottage cheese is great in salads, and it is one of the lowest in calories. But cottage cheese has long been denied its rightful recognition as a provocative ingredient in scores of gourmet desserts.

Maybe the problem is that it is too good for you. Made from skim milk with cream added to restore milk fat and vitamins it is high in protein and low in calories—a fact that could mean a lot to you right now if you are thinking about getting back into those summer clothes.

Cottage is one of the oldest of cheeses—so old, in fact, that experts are not even sure where it first was made. We do know, though, that the Dutch women brought it over on those first boats from Holland and many a 17th century New Amsterdam kitchen boasted fresh, home-made cottage cheese.

The recipes that follow show how delicious and unusual desserts can be made with something you probably have in your refrigerator right now.

Dessert Souffle

1 cup cottage cheese
3 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup milk
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons lemon rind, grated
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup toasted chopped almonds
½ cup raisins
bread crumbs

Melt butter, then remove from heat and blend in flour and salt. Add milk gradually, mixing until it is blended well. Then, continuing to stir, mix over a low heat until thick and smooth. Beat egg yolks until light, then gradually beat in sugar and lemon rind. Now add the almonds, raisins, cottage cheese and sauce. Blend well. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the cheese mixture.

Hard Work Pays Off For 4-H

Antioch Chiefs and Squaws have been rehearsing a skit called "All Houses Are Haunted" three or four nights every week for the past month.

This is their first attempt in this field and their leaders, Mrs. Auxier, Sr., and Mrs. Auxier, Jr., are far from professional directors.

Needless to say, when "Share the Fun" night arrived their nerves were really jumping, but all turned out well. The judges awarded them a grade "A" which means Blue Ribbons for all, and of the 12 clubs that performed they were one of the five chosen to return Friday night for the finals.

The entire club was included in their act—Tom Zeman, Boy; Sue Amundsen, Girl; Edy Teslow, Mystery Woman; Candy Bailey, Strange Girl; Chuck Auxier, Mr. Jones; and the Haunts were played by Denise Willett, Joanna Vasek, Jamie Vasek, Diana Perry, Colleen Moore, Ronald Knab, Marilyn Harmon, Tammy Ester, Jack Ester and Eva Auxier.

A special thanks again to Mrs. Aileen Biel for helping with the casting.

At the finals Friday night one club will be chosen to represent all of Lake County at the State Fair in Springfield, which will be held in August.

Kaufman Play Will Be Presented By PM&L

PM&L has another winner coming up. It's "You Can't Take It With You" by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman which will sparkle across the footlights on May 8, 14, 15, 21 and 22 at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St., Antioch.

The cozy crackpot charm of "You Can't Take It With You" is epitomized in the Kaufman-Hart description of the living room which serves as the play's single setting.

"The home of Martin Vanderhof—just around the corner from Columbia University, but don't go looking for it. The room we see is what is customarily described as a living room, but in this house the term is something of an understatement. The every-man-for-himself room would be more like it. For here meals are eaten, plays are written, snakes are collected, ballet steps practiced, xylophones played, printing presses operated - if there were enough room there would probably be ice skating. In short, the brood presided over by Martin Vanderhof goes on about the business of living in the fullest sense of the word. This is a house where you do as you like, no questions asked."

In this setting you will find playwright Mama (Valerie Huntington), who wrote plays because eight years earlier someone had let a typewriter at the house by mistake; gentle Papa (Harold Springer), who made firecrackers in the basement; salty old Grandpa Vanderhof (Bob Lindblad), who wouldn't pay any income tax; toe-dancing Essie (Becky Montooth); and a group of house guests who ranged from a marvelously drunken actress (Dee Baum) to a Grand Duchess (Gerri Duncan) who was working as a Child's waitress.

Other cast members are Marion Schultz as Rheba, Paul Biel as Mr. De Pinna, Bill Sereshon as Ed, Bill Baum as Donald, Davourneen Scoloro as Alice, Don Beveroth as Henderson, Mike Ciesielka as Tony, Rich Irmen as Boris Kolenkhov, Tom Riggs as Mr. Kirby, Shirley Bunker as Mrs. Kirby, and Gerry Peltera, Hank Apostol and Fred Holbert as men of the law.

Jim Cossman Cruises To Speedway Victory

A large turnout of hometown fans finally had something to cheer about at the Waukegan Speedway Saturday night as popular Jim Cossman of Waukegan cruised home to 30 lap late model feature winner after taking the lead on the 23rd lap of the race. Ray Freeman of Crete gathered in second place money and Al Gutche of Bristol, who paced the first 23 laps, salvaged third after an accident seven laps short of the checkered flag.

Gutche gained the lead at the green flag and opened up a sizeable margin in the early going. Cossman moved into second in the 16th lap and was just catching Gutche in the 23rd lap when Gutche skidded head-on into the spin car of Bill McNery of Evergreen Park just as the red flag was displayed.

It took hasty pit work on Gutche's Mercury Cyclone to get him back in the race. The hood, right front fender and part of the grill were removed in record time with a tow truck ripping the front bumper away from the right front tire. However, steering problems dropped Al back when the green came out again.

For Cossman, who won the track title here in 1964, '65, '67 and '68, this was his first feature in just a year. His last came on the second Saturday night of racing at Waukegan in 1970.

Bob Roper of Chicago finished 9th in the main after winning the first two features of the year at Waukegan. Roper ranked as high as 4th in the 30 lapper before spinning out in the 21st lap. Ray Young of Dolton also had another bad race as he spun out in the 13th lap after being among the leaders in the early going.

Carl Major of Chicago finished in 4th spot in the feature race after winning the third and fastest late model heat in record time. His 10 lap total of 2:24.61 was 28 seconds faster than Young had done on July 11 of last year.

Vern Browne of Wauconda turned in the evening's best qualifying lap at 14.30, but he was eliminated in the 25th lap of the main as he spun in front of Bob May of Gurnee while running 4th. May was able to restart and he finished 8th, a lap back on the leaders.

Ex-hobby stock driver, Roy Acuff of Chicago, was the night's only double winner as he won both the opening heat and the semi-feature. Gary Zobel of Mundelein and Norm Zenko of Highland Park were close behind Acuff at the end of 15 laps.

Chuck Chadwick of Lake Zurich again beat Tom Reuss of Wildwood in the hobby main for the third consecutive time. The leaders bumped on the finish turn with Chadwick maintaining his advantage. The race was stopped in the 6th lap when Ralph Koerner of Milwaukee bounced high off the backstretch wall and ended up on top of the steel guard rail.

SUNDAY, APRIL 18—

Bob May of Gurnee streaked to a half lap win at the Waukegan Speedway Sunday afternoon and shattered the 30 lap track record in the process. Earlier Jim Cossman of Waukegan rewrote the record books in the six lap dash.

May blasted into the feature lead on the 11th lap and was never challenged after that point. Cossman took second on the 13th lap, but he was passed by Carl Major of Chicago in the 20th lap and wound up third. Bob Roper of Chicago finished fourth and Dave Evans of Mundelein, who paced nine of the first ten laps, took fifth money.

The breezy afternoon races got off to a rough start as Roper spun and was struck by several cars in the dash. A restart was called for and Cossman, who had the afternoon's fast time, drove through for the win in record time with Vern Browne of Wau-conda and May hot on his tail-pipes.

Ray Young of Dolton was out for the afternoon after hitting a lapped car in the slow heat race. Seconds later seven cars piled up on the second turn and backstretch in rapid fire.

Gary Zobel's car from Mundelein was all but destroyed in the accident and the cars of Roy Acuff of Chicago and Gordon Olson of Morris were too severely damaged to race in any remaining races. Al Gutche of Bristol was also in the accident, but returned for the win.

Dave Evans of Mundelein won the second heat in a side-by-side finish with May and Vern Browne carried the checkered flag in the third heat.

The hobby drivers furnished their share of excitement again Sunday, but Tom Reuss of Wildwood had everything his way in the main event after Chuck Chadwick of Lake Zurich failed a transmission. Reuss gathered in fast time, the trophy dash in the last 50 feet, the fast heat race and the feature. Cheryl Arndt of Milwaukee finished second.

Next weekend will be the final chance for fans to come out and see their favorite late model and hobby drivers in the afternoon, as Sunday racing will switch to evenings on May 2. Time trials will be at 7 p.m. and the first race at 8. Next week races will start at 2:30.

This Saturday night will see the running of the special 50 lap April championship race for the late models with double championship points being awarded in

Wildlife: What It Is Worth

By Kenneth E. Grant
Administrator
Soil Conservation Service
Land, water and wildlife. All are closely related; all interact, so that to change one component of the trio is to change the other two as well.

No one questions the importance of land or water to human life. But to some people, the value of wildlife—its contribution to our lives in the 20th century—is more difficult to understand or appreciate or describe. There is the pleasure that millions of Americans receive from hunting, fishing, or bird watching.

There is the esthetic appreciation of a walk in the woods, a morning in the marshes, an hour observing wild things at play. Wildlife has much the same social utility as art or music—the ability to surprise, delight, reveal.

There is the value of wildlife as a measure of what we are doing to our common environment. If we create conditions that are lethal to some wildlife species, we should take the warning that mistakes are being made—because man as well as wildlife may be in danger.

And finally, there is the value of wildlife as part of the "genetic pool" of our natural world. Exterminating a species or radically upsetting the ecological balance for others may have consequences that we cannot predict now.

Recently, the American people have become more concerned about the care and improvement of their entire natural environment, including wildlife. An aroused public has helped bring about new laws, new programs, new attitudes.

The Soil Conservation Service has always been concerned with the effect of its works on wildlife. We know that the majority of wildlife in this country today lives on, and from the products of, the Nation's farms and ranches and privately managed ponds and marshland. Soil and water conservation works over three decades has helped assure the necessary food, water, and cover. And action taken specifically to aid wildlife has made thousands of farms and ranches even better wildlife producers. Fish and wildlife measures are an important part of watershed projects and Resource Conservation and Development projects which are sponsored locally but receive major assistance from SCS.

Helping landowners and communities locate areas best suited for wildlife... adapting cropland practices to the job of creating ideal soil and water conditions for wildlife... selecting plants to suit the special needs of wildlife—all are part of the "kit bag" of tools used by SCS working through 3,000 local conservation districts.

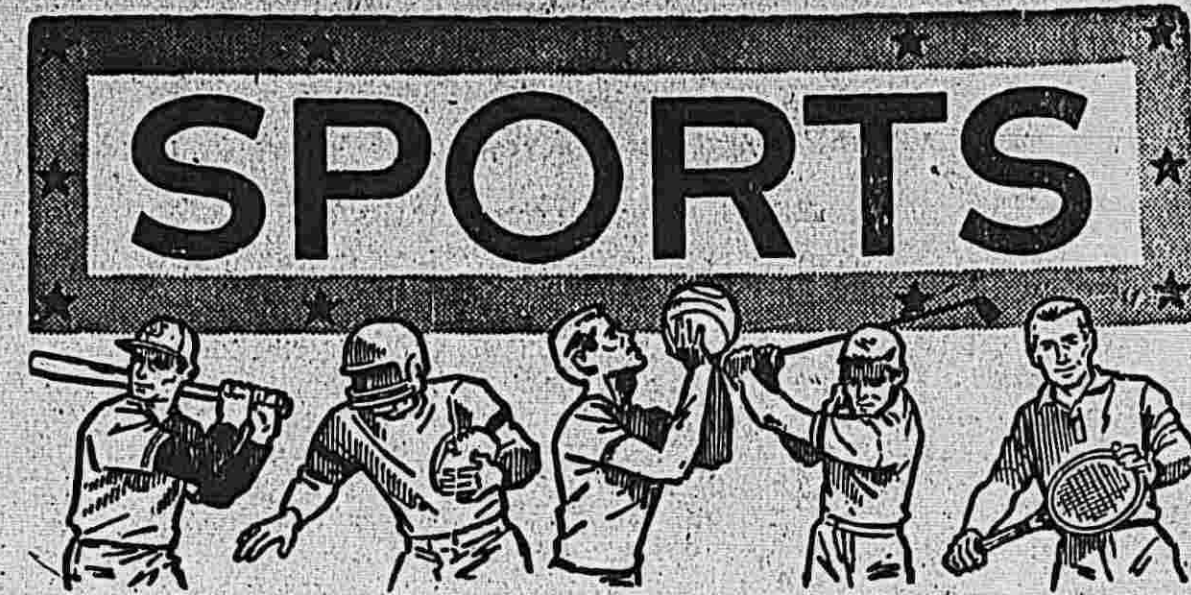

SCS personnel throughout the country have a direct interest and involvement in the quantity and quality of the Nation's wildlife resources. They are alert to changes in the use of land, water, or vegetation that may affect wildlife species. They have close working relationships with state fish and game agencies and other authorities so that facts about these changes can be given to them. Positive actions of thousands of SCS employees and conservation district leaders are helping increase wildlife and the chance for people to enjoy it.

Proper Boat Equipment Will Help Save Lives

Coast Guard statistics reveal that the majority of fatal accidents involve boats of less than 26 feet in length, many of which did not have the proper safety equipment on board.

With summer just around the corner, and the boating season about to come in to full swing, one way to help insure an enjoyable summer of boating is to have your boat properly equipped with the federal and state required equipment.

Perhaps the most important piece of equipment is the approved life saving device.

Federal and state law require that a Coast Guard approved life saving device must be carried on board the boat for each person including skiers being towed. (Ski belts are not approved devices.)

Many boaters, as they ready their boats for the summer, are taking their life saving devices out of storage.

Do not assume that because the device was in good condition last year that it will meet the standards this year.

Check the device prior to putting it in the boat. Make sure, first of all, that the tag on the life saving device is securely fastened, legible, and contains the Coast Guard Approval number, either beginning with 160— or E25, 160—.

Next, go over all the stitching and metal hardware. The straps and metal hardware must be firmly attached to the device, that is, capable of withstanding a moderate tug. With Kapok or Fiberglass filled devices, squeeze each section and listen for escaping air. If the sections leak or you feel hard spots, the device must be replaced.

Remember, if all else fails on your boat, your life saving device is all you have left. Keep them readily available for immediate use, see that children, non-swimmers, invalids, and elderly passengers on the boat wear the devices, and instruct all other passengers in the proper use of the devices.

Enjoy boating this summer by utilizing good common sense and proper safety equipment. Further information on legal requirements, both federal and state, may be obtained by contacting: Officer in Charge, CG BOSDET 09-1, 17 S. Route 12, Fox Lake, Illinois 60020, 312-587-6135.

Student Gets Tax Exemption

Students who work this summer may be entitled to exemption from income tax withholding. E. P. Trainor, District Director of Internal Revenue Service, Chicago District, said today.
Forms for claiming the exemption are available from Internal Revenue Service offices if employers do not have them, he said.
An employee who had no income tax liability last year and anticipates none for this year should use a Withholding Exemption Certificate, Form W-4E, to claim the exemption.

Married G.I. Bill Students Entitled To More Cash

Veterans in training under the G. I. Bill were reminded today by John B. Naser, director of the Chicago Veterans Administration office that they are entitled to more money when they get married or have children.
For example, Naser said, a full-time student in school will have his $175 a month increased to $205 when he gets married and to $230 if he becomes a father.

Veterans taking cooperative, apprenticeship, on-the-job or farm cooperative training also have their VA payments increased when they get married and have children. Apprenticeship and on-the-job trainees get additional payments for only two dependents, while the other gets them for all dependents.

Previously, Naser said, veterans could be paid the additional amounts only from the date they notified the VA of their new dependent. Under legislation effective Dec. 24, 1970, however, students have one year from the event to present the marriage license or birth certificate to the VA.

Since the new law is not retroactive, veteran students who were married or had a child before Dec. 24, 1970, and failed to notify the VA, can be paid only from that date, Naser said.

Veterans who are eligible for increased payments were urged to contact the VA office, 2030 West Taylor St., Post Office Box 8138, Chicago, Ill. 60680. Telephone 312-353-3900.

Anyone who qualifies can fill out the form and give it to his employer to claim exemption from income tax withholding on his wages.
Employers who need quantities of the new Form W-4E can obtain them from their IRS District Office.

1,424 Firms Issued New Charters

Secretary of State John W. Lewis announced today that 1,424 Certificates of Incorporation and Authority were issued to Illinois and out-of-State corporations in March, an all time record for any one month in the history of the Corporation Division.

The record figure is an increase of 254 over the 1,179 new corporations licensed in March of last year.
In the first three months of this year, 3,603 new corporations were chartered or licensed in Illinois, for an increase of 313 over the 3,290 new corporations in the first three months of 1970.

The Corporation Division collected $1,070,957.22 in fees and taxes during March, or a decrease of $131,431.25 from the $1,202,388.47 collected in March of 1970.

In the first three months of 1971, the Division has collected $2,356,134.22, representing a decrease of $321,882.67 from the $2,678,016.89 collected in the same period of last year.

Secretary Lewis explained that the decrease in fees is still a reflection of the lowering of the minimum franchise tax from $100 to $25, which was effective July 1, 1970.

Abbott First In Pollution Control

Abbott Laboratories won first place in the pollution control category in Modern Manufacturing Maintenance Merit Award competition.

William F. Hayden, manager of utilities for Abbott, and William T. Sullivan, director of plant engineering, accepted the magazine's award in Abbott's behalf.

The accomplishment that won the pollution control award was Abbott's system for collecting fermentation and waste treatment plant odors, and destroying them by combustion in the utility plant's boilers.

The awards were presented in Cleveland in conjunction with the Plant Engineering and Maintenance Show and the American Institute of Plant Engineers' convention.

A complete report on the award-winning companies is contained in the March issue of Modern Manufacturing magazine.

Judges for this year's competition were Edward W. Sutton, maintenance superintendent at FMC Corporation's inorganic chemicals division; David D. Swett, executive vice-president of Bruce Payne Associates; and Joseph C. Myers, plant engineer for FMC Corporation's link belt bearing division.

In the pollution control category, McDonnell Aircraft Company and Honeywell's aerospace and defense group took, respectively, second and third place.

Bar Group Explains Check Law

Checks are a common way of transacting financial matters and keeping records, but many people don't understand the laws that apply to their use.

The Ill. State Bar Association defines a check as a legal written order to your bank to pay the stated sum to the person you name. In legal terms you are the "drawer," the person you name is the "payee," and your bank is the "drawee." All three have responsibilities and may have liabilities under the law.

It is not wise to make out a check to "cash." If lost or stolen, it is very easy for anyone to cash. For this reason ISBA suggests you make a check payable to cash only when you are immediately ready to use it.

When the payee receives your check, he must endorse it in one of three ways before receiving money: (1) an "endorsement in blank" means your check is payable to the bearer and may consist of a mere signature; (2) a "special endorsement" means he writes the words "pay to the order of (Mary Jones)" above his signature. The check can't be validly transferred until Mary endorses it, and (3) a "restrictive endorsement" means the payee designates it for a specific purpose, such as a deposit to a checking or savings account.

When a number of persons endorse a check, unless they otherwise agree, they are liable to one another in the order in which they endorse it. It is presumed this is the order in which their signatures appear on the check.

If you spell out the amount one way and write it numerically another, the bank will use the word figure, unless the words are ambiguous. Then the numerical figure will be used. Handwritten terms take precedence over printed or typewritten terms.

The law also states that the negotiability of a check "is not affected by the fact that it is undated, antedated or postdated." The bank presumes the date on the check is the correct date when the funds are available.

If someone altered the amount on your check (changing $8 to $80) your bank probably would be the loser. It could deduct only $8 from your account. But if the bank can show your negligence led to the alteration, your bank may properly charge your account for the amount of the check, as altered.

Banks must know the signatures of their own depositors, even if they might be clever forgeries. However, you are expected to examine your statements and cancelled checks within a "reasonable amount of time" after receiving them. If you find a check not written or signed by you, inform the bank. If you don't and the bank can prove it suffered a loss because of your failure to notify it, you might have to take the loss.

There may be times when you write and issue a check for more than the intended amount or you lose a check or it is stolen. According to ISBA, the law provides a solution for these problems.

You should immediately call the bank and place a "stop order," giving the check number, the date written, the amount, the name of the payee and any other helpful particulars. Your oral stop order is effective for 14 days, but during this time you must send a written notice listing the same information. The written stop order is effective for six months and may be subject to an extension. The bank should receive notice in sufficient time to carry out your instructions. If not, the bank may not be liable if it cashes the check. If you find the bank cashes a check after your giving proper notice, it may be held responsible for the loss.

Checks often are easier to use than cash, but unlike currency, you can't hold them too long. ISBA advises that a bank does not have to cash a check if it is more than six months old.
